

CONSTRUCTIVE CONTRACT -- PUBLIC NOTICE -- WARNING

Any person, corporation, organization or agency which installs or operates electronic utility metering on this private property thereby accepts and incurs major personal liability.

Any person who acts or conspires to install or apply any device or system upon this private property for the purpose, or having the effect, of monitoring of any private activity and/or collecting surveillance data and/or emitting electromagnetic, radio or microwave radiation and/or pulses of any kind and/or which lacks necessary surge protection and/or which causes electric transients is in direct violation of law and property rights and, by that act, is fully and separately liable for all harm, hazard, damage and nuisance caused.

If you are engaged in any activity described above you are agreeing to pay claims as submitted timely and without challenge. Those claims may exceed $1,000,000.00. If you are not bonded for such liability you may apply for a bond with the property owner. If you are bonded for that liability, you must provide that bond information and documentation to the property owner before entering the property. That information must contain direct contacts for submission and prompt payment of all claims.

THIS IS NOT REFUSAL OF ANY UTILITY METERING, it is requirement for responsibility and bonding against the potential, likely, foreseeable and unforeseeable consequences of electronic utility metering.

This Notice is and will be enforced by all applicable Federal and State laws, policies and local ordinances including but not limited to U.S.C. Title 47, Chap. 5, Subchapter VI, Sec. 605, U.S.C. Title 42, Chap. 82, Subchapter VII, Sec. 6973.
